A BURGLAR.-The Buffalo Express of Friday has the following story:

Dick Turpin, Jack Sheppard, Sixteen-String Jack and those other heroes in the forbidden tales which thousands of school boys have read on the sly, and many a sentimental maiden sighed to be robbed by, would not have blushed for the henor of their craft could they have listened to the deeds of one of their followers as narrated in the Police Court yesterday .-Our readers have already been told that in February last the house of Mr. Gilbert White was entered and a gold watch and $700 taken was entered and a gold watch and $700 taken | Comprising therefrom, Yesterday a young man named Parlor, Cook, Hall and Dining Room Stoves, John Moreover was brought up on a charge of having been connected with the affair. Mr. White and his wife, with their daughter, Mrs. Wall, and her little son were the witnesses. -From the story of Mrs. Wall, who on the night of the robbery was sitting up with her mother, who was ill, it would appear that the thief was of a superior order. He was in the house about three-quarters of an hour, and is a. described as having a voice "soft, gentle and low"- an excellent thing in a woman or a burglar. He restored Mr. Wall's watch on being fold that it was a keepsake, and also fifteen dollars in gold and silver which had been kept for a long time by Mrs. White. On knocking some pictures from a table he apologized, and asked if he should replace them. He expressed his regret at Mrs. White's sickness, and hoped for her speedy recovery, at the same CAS AND STEAM FITTING. time stating that he was not used to burglary, but had not eaten anything for four days, thus marring the good impression he had produced by telling what was probably a lie; although he seemed to be "as mild a mannered man as ever scuttled ship or cut a throat." Mrs.

COTTON-PICKING MONKEYS. - A communication in the Galveston News, from a Texas planter furnishes evidence that an attempt has absolutely been made to teach monkeys to pick cotton. The writer says he was a cotton planter in Georgia in 1849; but, being obliged to visit the Island of Trinidad on business, he was prevailed on to purchase some monkeys there, in order to make the experiment as to their capacity for labor. He reached home with him, delivered on the plantation, $48. He gives the following as his experience:

little boy, however, swore that he was the man, and he was fully committed for trial.

"I was mighty well pleased when I received my monkeys. Their arrival turned my plantation topsy-turvy. For two weeks nothing was | will give satisfaction. done by whites or blacks but play with the monkeys. The overseer got one of the brightest looking, and remained at his house most of the time watching the monkey's tricks, and I Corner Royal & Wilkes st., & No. 65. Union st., must confess that my wife, myself, and children were in the same business. Seeing this would not pay, I began making preparations to go to work. I had reckoned on one man managing ten monkeys, and five monkeys picking as much as every description. three men. For the next two weeks all hands, white and black, were engaged in the cotton fields teaching monkeys. The result was somewhat different from my calculations.-Instead of one man managing ten monkeys, &c., it took ten men to manage one monkey and then the monkey did not pick a pound or an ounce of cotton. I became disgusted, gave all my neighbors that would accept a monkey, and about a fortnight since sold the last eight to a travelling menagerie at five dollars a piece. My monkey speculation has thrown me behind six weeks in cotton-picking. The next time I go to Trinidad I don't think I shall want any more monkeys.'

HUNNICUTT AS A FEROCIOUS "REBEL."-In regard to the charge that Hunnicutt proposed the capture of Fortress Monroe, before the secession of Virginia. Major Barton furnishes a written statement of the matter, and says: "In January, 1861, before the election of members of the convention, Mr. Hunnicutt called at my office, in company with a gentleman not now in this State, and requested a private interview with me. Leaving one of my brothers, who was sitting with me, we went into an adjoining room, when he broached the subject of the capture of Fortress chasers, as we feel satisfied that all can be suit-Monroe, spoke of it as of the highest and most ed, both in style and price CHARLES W. GREEN, urgent importance-stated that he would volunteer on the expedition, and that he had already spoken with others. I do not remember the number he mentioned who would go of the general subject of the capture of the fort which he considered an immediate and imperious necessity, and in which he desired to have my concurrence and co-operation. Of course I refused to give any countenance to any such

"I did not consider that there was any serious danger of a disturbance of the peace of the country, though his talk was very high and bold. I should have been surprised at such a proposal from any one else occupying the position that Hunnicutt was understood to hold at hat time. But his vagaries were s and rapid that one could scarcely feel surprise at anything he might do or say-whatever SALT! SALT!! SALT!!!
other feeling might be excited." other feeling might be excited."

MR. JONES met Mr. Smith as he was going on board a steamer on the Mississippi, and asked, "Which way, Smith, up or down?" That depends upon circumstances," remarked the latter; "if I get a berth over the boiler, I shall probably go up; if in the cabin, down."
